Our Services

We provide assessments and therapy in the core areas of speech and language and in related areas such as learning, augmentative communication, swallowing, feeding, cognitive functioning and processing. Our goal is to understand each person's need for communication in daily life and determine the role and impact of speech, language, or learning on the ability to function optimally. Coming to an appropriate diagnosis is the first important step in understanding the best plan of treatment.

All of the therapists at the Center for Communication Skills are licensed by the State of California and have been awarded a Clinical Certificate of Competence from the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Of all the gifts bestowed upon humanity, the ability to communicate is one of the most important. Any impairment of this ability can have far-reaching consequences, affecting every aspect of a person's life, from learning, to work, to interactions with family, friends, and community. Speech-language pathologists provide services to prevent, diagnose, evaluate, and treat communication disorders. American Speech-Language-Hearing Association
